

Workplace Health Screening

At Health Shield, we know how important it is to make employees feel valued and cared for by looking after their health and wellbeing. We've introduced a range of affordable workplace health screening services to help organisations manage the long-term health and wellbeing of every one of their employees. Our health screens are designed to encourage employees to take an active interest in their own health and support them in making positive lifestyle changes.

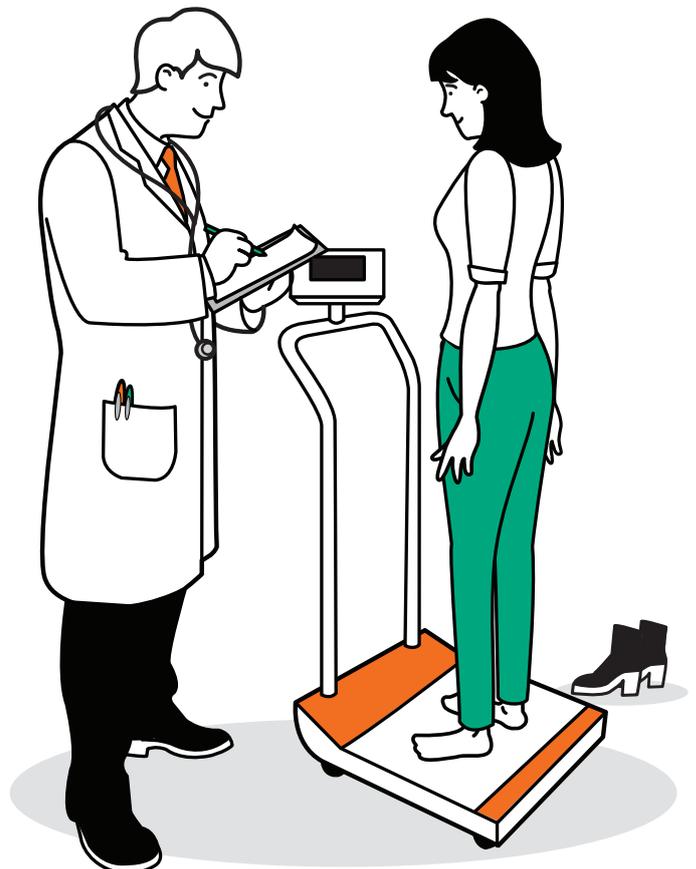

More than just a health screen

Our health screening service is a little bit different. Employees don't have to spend time travelling to and from hospitals or expensive clinics. We take our health screens into the workplace, turning a private space into a temporary clinic and using the latest technology to provide individual results and personal advice, there and then. We've conducted over 250,000 health screens meaning that your employees are in safe hands. Our friendly and professional team of nurses and health screening practitioners will make sure your employees feel comfortable and that their privacy is respected. We take care of everything from contacting employees to managing appointments via our online booking system. And at the end of each screening session each employee will receive an individual report and personal advice to help them make more positive lifestyle changes.

What are the key benefits?

- ✓ Helps organisations of all shapes and sizes to proactively reduce absence and improve employee wellbeing
- ✓ Provides employees with peace of mind and encourages them to take an active interest in their wellbeing
- ✓ Helps organisations with their duty of care. Healthy employees lead to increased motivation and productivity
- ✓ Can ease those health worries that cause sleepless nights and distract employees at work

How health screens can help to improve employee health

- We can easily detect problems like high cholesterol and blood pressure and provide preventative advice to stop issues from getting worse
- We can identify more serious illnesses like prostate and bowel cancer at an early stage so employees can access treatment that could save their lives
- Our Stress Cardiomyopathy Test provides advice on how to reduce stress on their cardiovascular and nervous systems
- Where necessary, our practitioners will recommend employees visit their GP. Our practitioner support team can also back this up with an email, to the employee, containing specific information for the G.P. about the referral
- Employees can access telephone support from practitioners 365 days a year

Next steps

Simply choose a screening level most suitable for your organisation and get in touch with us. We will work with you to agree timings for the screening alongside offering support to help promote the service to your workforce. You can mix and match the level of screening for each employee instead of choosing one level for everyone. Your employees can then simply go online to book a screening appointment at their workplace. All you need to provide is a small room with a table and two chairs.
